BIG FLOOD MENACING GALVESTON

TYPHOID SPREADS IN FLEET

LYNN, July 21.—The first definite result of the strike of the shoe packers came to-day when the James Phalen Company announced the closing of its factory overnight with the statement that it will not resume until the strike is settled. This throws 800 employees out. The Phalen company had announced that it would fight the strike.

The situation now threatens to involve 20,000 shoe workers. If the request made to-day by other unions to be allowed to go out in sympathy are carried to a vote

WOMEN RIOT IN PROTEST AT SPANISH WAR

MADRID, April 21.—Spain in today faces a more serious situation than has confronted her since the war with America.

Public sentiment is daily against the Moroccan war, and rioting and other street demonstrations here and elsewhere are making the government aware that unless the campaign is concluded briefly and successfully it may have to deal with revolutionary forces.

Fast crowds, including thousands of women, surrounded the war ministry today and vociferously condemned the dispatch of troops to Morocco.

Disorder was general throughout the city, and in this, too, the women took prominent part.

No general was the disorder that the police feared. The women were angry, but they acted like chaff when they attempted to interfere in their course.

No serious damage has been done as yet, but the situation hourly grows more threatening.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A report received by the weather bureau from Galveston, Tex., today, said that the rising and water has inundated the western portion of the city to a depth of several feet.

The wind is from the Northeast and blowing 52 miles an hour.

The big storm that swept the Texas coast was sighted first last Saturday over the Gulf of Mexico.

First reports had it that it didn't have had swept the city, causing the repetition of the great disaster of several years ago.

But the reports coming in from the messages for information and were advised while that monetary loss occasioned by the flood would be considerable and there was a possibility that the business and the general business was progressing as usual.

GLOBE GIRDLER BOUND TO WIN

The disorder reached its height when a brigade left here to reinforce the Spanish column at Mérida, and similar scenes were enacted in Seville when troops were dispatched from there today.

POWERFUL WESTERN STORY—Read "On the Santa Barbara Trail" in the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

Second baseman Sner reported for duty last night and Harry Smith had him working around the second corner before the game this afternoon. Sner has not been injured regularly for some time as his father had regularly and he has been at his home. It is expected that he will play regularly at second when he gets fully in his stride. To morrow the Pittsburg Pirates will play the Doves' opponents and will remain to Boston for three days, including a double header on Saturday.
